Pam Cushenan, RDH, MS, ATI is a twenty plus year practitioner of dental hygiene. After many years of working with older adults and cognitively impaired patients, she developed training program for caregivers of aging special needs patients. Pam has devoted much time and energy to developing resources and reaching an ever-growing number of caregivers across Georgia. In addition, she conducts continuing education courses for dental professionals to provide them with the latest information in addressing the needs of this special population.

In 2004, she joined the faculty as a full-time educator in the dental hygiene program at Georgia Perimeter College, Dunwoody. To date, a number of her articles have been published in oral health columns for the Alzheimer's Association Magazine, Modern Hygienist and Sunstar Dental Hygiene Newsletter. Today, she works tirelessly to combine her training techniques and educational methods to benefit students, professional and family caregivers, and functionally independent seniors in presentations across the country.
